Standard Club appoints Laura Linturn and Alex Miell

Leading mutual P&I insurer, The Standard Club, has bolstered its senior team with two new appointments in 2021. Laura Linturn joins as Chief Information Officer (CIO) and Alex Miell joins as Head of People & Culture.

As the incoming CIO, Laura Linturn will further develop and implement the club's future technology strategy as it continues to lead the market in terms of service and supportiveness to members and brokers. Laura joins following a career break to complete an MSc in Computing and Information Systems from September 2019 to September 2020. Prior to that Laura was at AXA XL where she held the role of VP Head of IT Change Controls and Sourcing. Before this she held senior technology roles at XL Catlin, and AXA UK and held roles with particular emphasis on technology sourcing and vendor management during a 20-year career.

The new Head of People & Culture, Alex Miell, has been charged with defining, implementing and enabling the club's HR strategy. Alex will also be responsible for championing the club's culture, making sure our decisions, policies and ways of working align with it. Alex has more than 20 years of experience in HR in a variety of roles largely in technology, financial services and professional services, notably MoneySupermarket Group, Pearson Group and DWF.

Dipo Oyewole, Performance & Strategy Director of the Standard Club, comments: " This is a year of new beginnings for the club and these new appointments are part of our ongoing investment in our people and technology. As a club, we know that its our people that set us apart: their expertise, their resilience and their total commitment to our members. This recent period has confirmed for us the importance of technology and we will continue to invest in it to better serve our members. This is a special year for the club and we are delighted to have Laura and Alex join us."
